Dear Friends and Neighbors,
Can you believe we are entering 2018? Time seems to be slipping through our fingers. Each day, or each week, we learn of another horrible attack or death of innocent people. And each time we hear the news, TIME becomes more precious. We realize that time is fragile. Time spent with family, friends, and lovers is holy. Time dedicated to kindness and caring of others is priceless.
Time is sacred.
Chronological time belongs in the human realm. We determine age, accomplishments, rites of passage, failures and successes through chronological time. Life and death is often associated with how much time we have lived and how long before we die.
God's timing is really different. Epiphany is the beginning of experiencing God's time in the world.

Jesus is a child who receives gifts from traveling Magi at the beginning of this season. He is swept away by his family when they learn that his life may be threatened, and they become refugees living in Egypt. At some point in the chronological time frame, he returns to Judea and grows into a 30 year old man who shows up at the Jordan River to be baptized with other Jewish women and men.

This God-incarnate, who lives with and for all human beings, is both tied to the chronological order of aging as well as to the divine timing of agelessness. He is both here and coming, living and resurrected, a child and adult at once.

Trusting God's timing in all things is a complicated practice. We want God to respect our grip on chronological time and participate in our lives according to our timing. Perhaps this year, 2018, we will discover the difference between God's time and ours. There is much to learn from this kind of faith journey. What time are you in?

May God bless you as we begin the new year.

Sincerely,
Rev. Laura Biddle

A message from your Co-Moderators

Jesus is born...

Now what?

Presents have been opened and guests have gone home.

Spring is a long way off, and now it's time to settle in for the rest of winter.

Now what?

The month of January was named after "Janus", the Roman God of gates and doorways, openings and closings, hibernation and emerging from deep withdrawal.

He was a tricky little guy who pointed to our reclusiveness and reflections of our past, and our contemplation of our future

January – a month to catch our breath and then feel the light within us, after our time of hibernation; worn down by foul weather and lack of light.

Now what?

Well, Soup Sundays are starting up, always a crowd pleaser.

We are moving into the Chapel soon for the winter, warm and cozy.

On 1/14 we will have a Martin Luther King service, that's bound to be inspiring.

On 1/20 Rob Humphreville will be playing piano to a Charlie Chaplin movie-a completely improvised screen play-genius.

And that's just January. Who knows what February will bring?

Now what?

Happy New Year.

Respectfully yours, Rich Stevens and Maria Welsh

News from the Transition Team

The members of the Transition Team have been meeting several times a month in 2017, working on the "Profile", the document to be ultimately sent out to prospective candidates for the settled minister position. We are making good progress and appreciate the input that we have received from the congregation through the survey and the "Conversation" last May. We have also conducted numerous interviews with leaders and departments in Nahant.

The contract for Rev. Laura has been extended for this coming year as we continue to work together on presenting an accurate picture of Nahant Village Church in preparation for selecting a minister who will be a good fit for our church. Please keep the members of the Transition Team, Christine Alexander, Nancy Cantelmo, Bill Crawford, Marrit Hastings, Jen McCarthy and Maria Welsh, in your prayers and we continue to work on your behalf.

Many thanks to those of you who purchased poinsettias. The sanctuary looked beautiful on Christmas Eve

Deportation from Our Community

Naseem Byah is an 8-year-old Johnson School student whose mother was inhumanely detained and then illegally deported the day after Christmas. This boy had no idea that when he returned home from school on November 7 that his mother had been taken without warning at a routine court check-in. Siham Byah came here from Morocco in 1999 through a marriage that did not work out, and her son is an American citizen. She's been an outspoken activist and had applied for political asylum; though she was assured in writing she would be allowed to present her case, she was denied any semblance of due process prior to being deported like a dangerous criminal. Siham's safety in Morocco is uncertain, as is her son's future - Naseem remains in DCF (Department of Children & Families) custody. Siham's lawyer Matt Cameron confirms her case is not typical. Would it surprise you to know that each week Massachusetts children, some of whom are US citizens, are taken into state custody this way, or deported through the JFK Federal Building in Boston? Becoming aware, raising your voice, and taking action is encouraged. Please contact Margaret Alexander for more information.

Thank you for White Christmas Donations

My heart overflows from the goodness of the people of Nahant Village Church. What started out as the worst season for White Christmas donations in the 9 years I've been doing this changed into the most unbelievable turnaround. At the beginning, we had raised half of what was donated last year and had almost double the need. Johnson School had 7 families that needed a little Christmas Cheer...a record number. After a little plea on Joy Sunday, we collected a record amount of money from those people in attendance to bring the total to $1,380 in cash and $725 in gift cards!!! We were able to give 6 people in our congregation $100 each and all 7 families at Johnson School $100 each. We have NEVER been able to do that...and we have money left over to use in 2018, as needed. Christmas Blessings came early this year. Thank you. Lissa Stempek

Rev. Laura Biddle

Yellow forms to place your order for the new hymnal can be found in the Narthex and Companionway and can be left with a check (Memo Line New Hymnal) in the Treasurer's mailbox (on the Administrative Assistant's door) or given directly to Susan Gilbert, our new Admin Assistant.
